Original Introduction

... to the first edition:
The dances in this book appear either because, or in spite of many requests.
The Haunting of Bisham Abbey is dedicated to the Warden and Staff of Bisham Abbey, C.C.P.R recreation centre.
My grateful thanks are also extended to those long-suffering dancers who have helped with the initial development of these dances by acting as Guinea Pigs.
The profits of the sale of this book will be devoted to the British Mensa funds for aid to the Villagio del Superdotata (school for gifted children in Sicily).

John W. Mitchell (1967)
... to the second edition:
Nobody can be more surprised than I that the first edition of this book sold out. The second edition has been produced for those who were unable to obtain the first. It contains some seventeen dances - no extras. The instructions are, however, rather more verbose. This is in keeping with modern practice of providing extremely comprehensive instructions, so that the instructions become more complicated and difficult to understand than the dances. There were a few points in the original edition where some teachers required clarification. I would thank all those who contacted me and hope that these points have all been clarified in this edition. I have resisted the temptation to make any changes in the light of the suggestions received, as it becomes extremely confusing for dancers and teachers if more than one version of a dance exists. Whilst some of these dances appear complicated, I have heard of different groups who have succeeded in performing each of them.

Introduction to the new edition

Welcome to the first book in the series of new, digital editions of the Whetherly Books. Much to my surprise, we have gathered a keen team of volunteers for this project; Viktor Lehmann has taken the lead; scanning the originals and converting to digital format, editing and formatting the books. Several people have "adopted a book" for proof-reading after the initial scan - they are credited in their adopted book. Keith Rose and Roland Telle have risen to the challenge of producing corresponding diagrams and e-cribs; together with Viktor and myself, this has been an interesting process discussing details of the dances, where instructions often don't follow current RSCDS standards or are ambiguous - in some cases, there are genuine mistakes!

My thanks to everyone involved - this project would not have been possible without you. We hope that these efforts will preserve the collection of Whetherly Books and Sheets comprising more than 800 dances for future generations of Scottish Country Dancers; there are some lovely gems, some unusual figures, some challenges, a large number of round-the-room dances, some demonstration only dances, and some that are best forgotten.
Here's hoping you will sort the wheat from the chaff and that several may achieve similar popularity to John's current top hits: Caddam Wood (sheet 9), The Dundee City Police Jig (Book 2) and Iona Cross (Book 17).

Whereas in later books the dances were almost always named after a specific tune, this first book is the exception where most dances have a story: "Bliadhna Mhath Ur" and "Oidhche Chaluinn" are Scottish Gaelic for "Happy New Year" and "Hogmanay" respectively. Huntie Gowk is scots for April Fools, and "Calum Cam-Chosach" apparently translates as "Calum crooked foot", but I cannot enlighten you any further. "The De'els Awa' Wi' the Exciseman" and "O' Wha's At The Window" are named after songs. "The Haunting of Bisham Abbey" is dedicated to the staff of Bisham Abbey, a former stately home now functioning as a sports and recreation centre, which is allegedly haunted by the ghost of an Elizabeth Holby.
A couple more dances relate to nearby places: "The Old Chain Pier" is a reference to Brighton's first pier, "Lodge Hill" refers to a local estate in Sussex. Some others relate to his Scottish ancestry: "Be Traist" or "Be Faithful" is the motto of Clan Innes, of which Mitchell is a sept. "Wallace's Revolution" is presumably a reference to the famous William Wallace, a prominent leader the first war of Scottish independence in the $13^{\text {th }}$ century - the W. in John's and my name being "Wallace", the maiden name of John's mother. "Whetherly" is the maiden name of John's grandmother on his father's side - the house in Hove where John grew up being called "Whetherly House".
"The Guinea Pigs Jig", however, is presumably dedicated to his long-suffering dance class who must've put up with many trials and errors in the production of this book. In later times, l'm fairly sure he stopped bothering them with trying out the dances - much to their relief I'm sure, but only delaying the issue until you, dear reader, take up the challenge. So - let's dance!

John Wallace Mitchell - A Brief Biography

(31/05/1931-25/11/2012)

John Wallace Mitchell was born and raised in Brighton & Hove, Sussex. Following his school education, which took place against a background of war, he completed military service from 1949-1951 with the Royal Electrical and Mechanical Engineers (REME) army division. He then started work in accountancy, joining the Sperry Rand corporation in 1957 as a computer and business systems analyst. In 1958 he became a member of the British Computer Society, only a few months after its foundation. In the early 1960's, the focus of his career moved towards management consultancy, and he completed many assignments for several companies, often helping to set up their first computer systems, with work taking him to many locations both within the UK and western Europe, as well as to Saudi Arabia. Eventually he set up a private practice in 1972.

He was a keen cyclist, active in several clubs and competing at a local level from 1946-1956. When in the army, he would often cycle back to Brighton on free weekends, which could be up to 140 miles each way.

Although he first encountered Scottish Country Dancing in Dollar, Scotland in 1947, it wasn't until 1964 that he began to take it seriously, when he joined the Leeds clubs and RSCDS Branch. After moving back to the Brighton area, he became a member of the London branch in 1966 and in 1967 was the founder chairman of the Sussex Association of Scottish Societies, which was formed to ensure the future of the local Annual Scottish Charity Ball by connecting many clubs in the region. This led to the first day schools and teachers' training courses in the region. In 1972 he obtained a full RSCDS teacher's certificate and in 1975 became the founder chairman of the Hangleton Scottish Country Dance Club. From approximately 1968 to 1992 he devised some 828 dances, which were published in this series of Whetherly Books and Sheets. Whetherly is the maiden name of his paternal grandmother, after which the house in which he grew up was also named ("Whetherly House"). In 2010 he received the London Branch award for services to Scottish Dancing.

John passed away in 2012 after a two year battle with cancer.

Bliadhna Mhath Ur (A Happy New Year)

A forty-eight bar Jig for four couples in a longwise set.

1-8 Reels of four on the sides of the set. First and third couples cross down to the opposite side as they commence, on bar 1; they finish on the opposite side. The ladies pass left shoulders at the ends to commence, continuing by passing right shoulder in the middle on the ladies' side of the set.
9-12 First and second couples dance half rights and lefts; third and fourth couples do the same.
13-16 First and second couples dance a ladies' chain half way; third and fourth couples do the same. As the ladies change places with the right hand, the men dance across the set to meet the other lady coming up or down. The ladies finish on the sidelines, the men finishing ready to pass right shoulders.
17-24 The four men dance a complete reel of four to finish back in the sidelines, second and fourth men still on the opposite side, in first and third place respectively.
25-28 First and second couples dance half rights and lefts, crossing, giving right hand, to commence; third and fourth couples do the same.
29-32 First and second couples dance a ladies' chain half way; third and fourth couples do the same. The men finish on the sidelines, the ladies finishing ready to pass right shoulder.

43-44 First and third couples dance left hands across in a wheel half way.
45-46 First and fourth couples dance right hands across in a wheel half way.
47-48 All join hands on the sides and set.
Repeat with new top couple.

Note

As an alternative to crossing on the first bar, a second chord may be played to permit first and third couples to cross and commence by dancing in and down, this variation being more in accordance with modern practice.

Note

The dance is a fugue, the three couples dancing what is basically the same pattern at two bar intervals: set, cross; cast up, cross; crossing reels; reel on side; cast off, turn.

DALRY JIG

The De'el's Awa' Wi' The Exciseman

A forty-eight bar Jig for four couples in a square set.

Finish with the men on the sides of the square opposite to their original position (i.e., first man is in third place) and the ladies back to back in the centre, having moved one place clockwise (i.e., first lady is facing fourth man in second position).
15-16 All clap and set.

25-30 Three quarters of a grand chain, one step to each hand. The ladies dance clockwise and the men anticlockwise (thus giving left hand to own original partner on the second step). Editor's note to the 2019 edition
In the original books, the spelling of the name was slightly different: "The De'els awa wi the Exciseman". It was changed for the new edition to be more in-line with the tune names available.

Wallace's Revolution

A thirty-two bar Jig for four couples in a longwise set.
1-2 First man and second lady cross, giving right hand in passing; second man and third lady do the same, as do third man and fourth lady.
3-4 All join hands on the side and set.
5-6 First lady and third lady cross, giving left hand in passing; first man and fourth lady do the same, as do second man and fourth man.
7-8 All join hands on the side and set.
9-16 The four men, now at the foot of the set, dance right hands across in a wheel for four bars, turning on the fifth bar, and dancing back with the left hand for three bars. Meanwhile, the four ladies, at the top, dance left hands across in a wheel for four bars, turning on the fifth bar, and dancing right hands across for three bars. Positions are now, from the top on the ladies' side: fourth lady, first lady, first man and fourth man; and on the men's side: third lady, second lady, second man and third man.
17-24 Eight hands round to the left in a circle and back to the right. The circle ends with the men retaining right hands to finish in a line across the room, facing up, and the ladies in a line across, facing down: first and second couples release own partner's hand to open out into these lines.
25-32 First and fourth couples dance rights and lefts; second and third couples do the same.
The dance finishes in the lines across in the order 2, 3, 4, 1. It is repeated from new positions with original second couple leading.
At the end of the first repeat all four couples are on the opposite sides, with original third couple at the foot, ready to lead the second repeat.
At the end of the second repeat, the men are facing down the room and the ladies up, with original fourth couple ready to lead.
Thus the whole set revolves through ninety degrees on each repeat, to finish with all dancers in their original places.
