Original Introduction

Not another book of dances do I hear you cry? I apologise but yes it is. It is no doubt surprising that with well over 2,000 different dances extant there is still scope for something new - or is it? In Scottish Country Dancing there are currently some 80 different formations in the current repertoire although the majority of dances are made up from about 25 standard formations. Even so to produce a 32 bar dance perm any 4 from 25 gives $25 \times 24 \times 23 \times 22 = 303,600$ possible combinations (many of which will be impossible to dance). Even so we have not yet attempted 1% of the possible combinations. This ignores combining figures so that two are performed simultaneously and the fact that there are many different variations on the basic figures: over 40 different allemandes and about 50 different poussettes alone. So far we are only scratching the surface, it can now only be a matter of time before all the known possibilities are fed into a computer with a programme to list all the possible combinations. In the meantime you will perforce have to make do with the mental convolutions of those amongst us who will not leave well alone.

This book is dedicated to all those who will not teach or learn “made up dances”. I will join your ranks on receipt of a complete list of all dances which exist and which have not been made up.

John W. Mitchell (1977)

Introduction to the new edition

Despite the considerable advances in computing over the intervening 40 odd years or so, as far as I’m aware, still no-one has attempted to let a computer programme list all possible combinations. Not that it would be difficult to do; however devising dances goes beyond just listing combinations. First and foremost, it must be possible to dance, and those dances that are most enjoyable also flow naturally from one movement to the next. Secondly, there is usually a reason for devising a dance. To commemorate special occasions, as a gift to another person, to represent certain ideas or describe places through the formations, or even just to fit to a particular tune. Finally, there is the possibility of inventing new figures or incorporating new movements, something that is considerably harder to programme.

According to the Strathspey Server, there are currently 344 formations listed, many of which are variations on a theme. There are 32 different “Reels of three” listed, 3 Men’s Chains and 1 “Diddle” (which only appears in one dance). The “Splat” and “Splunge”, which feature in later Whetherly Books, are as yet not listed. Assuming that the number of available formations has indeed increased since 1970 to at least 50 independent formations, then for a 32 bar dance there are now 5,527,200 possible combinations, without considering meanwhile figures or variations in the number of bars. By comparison, the Strathspey Server lists a paltry 18,525, still less than 1%.

Maybe this means I can stop being surprised that despite the number of new dances invented every year, the same dance is almost never devised twice by two different people.

John Wallace Mitchell - A Brief Biography

(31/05/1931 – 25/11/2012)

John Wallace Mitchell was born and raised in Brighton & Hove, Sussex. Following his school education, which took place against a background of war, he completed military service from 1949-1951 with the Royal Electrical and Mechanical Engineers (REME) army division. He then started work in accountancy, joining the Sperry Rand corporation in 1957 as a computer and business systems analyst. In 1958 he became a member of the British Computer Society, only a few months after its foundation. In the early 1960's, the focus of his career moved towards management consultancy, and he completed many assignments for several companies, often helping to set up their first computer systems, with work taking him to many locations both within the UK and western Europe, as well as to Saudi Arabia. Eventually he set up a private practice in 1972.

He was a keen cyclist, active in several clubs and competing at a local level from 1946 – 1956. When in the army, he would often cycle back to Brighton on free weekends, which could be up to 140 miles each way.

Although he first encountered Scottish Country Dancing in Dollar, Scotland in 1947, it wasn't until 1964 that he began to take it seriously, when he joined the Leeds clubs and RSCDS Branch. After moving back to the Brighton area, he became a member of the London branch in 1966 and in 1967 was the founder chairman of the Sussex Association of Scottish Societies, which was formed to ensure the future of the local Annual Scottish Charity Ball by connecting many clubs in the region. This led to the first day schools and teachers' training courses in the region. In 1972 he obtained a full RSCDS teacher's certificate and in 1975 became the founder chairman of the Hangleton Scottish Country Dance Club. From approximately 1968 to 1992 he devised some 828 dances, which were published in this series of Whetherly Books and Sheets. Whetherly is the maiden name of his paternal grandmother, after which the house in which he grew up was also named ("Whetherly House"). In 2010 he received the London Branch award for services to Scottish Dancing.

John passed away in 2012 after a two year battle with cancer.

Appendix to the New Edition: Description of Formations

Corners petronella round a double Hello-Goodbye setting

First and fourth couples back to back in the centre, facing their corners.

The first and fourth couples dance Hello-Goodbye setting for eight bars, whilst second and third couples move anticlockwise round the set with a petronella turn to change places and set at their new corner positions.

1-2 The first and fourth couples set to their corner positions with the right foot on bar 1, moving to their left on bar 2 to finish facing up and down or across the set. Meanwhile second and third couples move anticlockwise one corner position round the set with a petronella turn, see figure 1.

3-4 All join hands in a circle and set on bar 3, couples one and four release their left hands on bar 4 and set turning to their right to finish back to back in the middle facing their corners, see figure 2.

It will be noticed that at the end of bar 4 all eight dancers will have moved one place anticlockwise round the set and will be facing the same person as at the commencement of bar 1.

5-8 Bars 1-4 are repeated to progress one more position and finish in the diagonally opposite position to which the dancers started.

Figure 2

Note: the above diagrams show the positions for bars 9-12 of "Dr McHardy"; the positions are completely different in "The Blacksmith", but the movements are the same.
